WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The national draft board in Washington officially predicted today that registration of the country's 16,500,000 men of conscription age tomorrow would proceed without a "single hitch."

The prediction was made as the senate prepared to hold a special session during the day to confirm President Roosevelt's nomination of Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra, head of the University of Wisconsin, to be national director of conscription.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Three weeks from today millions of Americans will go to the polls to make a historic decision on the third term presidency issue.

Wind and rain of the night did a good job of bringing down the leaves. Streets and properties were covered this morning almost completely in areas where there are lots of trees.

Tomorrow is draft registration day. Every young man between ages of 21 and 36 years must visit the polling places in their district and register.

Blacktopping Croton avenue by the state is going along nicely. Less than a week's work, and the job will be completed. The project extends from East Washington street, to the Croton school. From the school to Crawford avenue, but for a short stretch, is already finished.

Prevalent weather on Monday closely resembled that of summer and many persons enjoyed the comfort of their porches during the early evening period.

Rain, which started falling during the night, put an end to an epidemic of grass and leaf fires which kept firemen busy last evening.

Real fall weather was noticed today, after a summer-like day yesterday, when the mercury rose to 83 degrees. Pa Newc saw several women who defied the dictates of fashion and appeared on the streets in summer dresses.

Pa Newc observed a young East Side lady downtown Monday afternoon, her arms filled with parcels. Upon inquiring about the many packages she had, it was learned that she was doing her Christmas shopping, but definitely! She stated that crowds take her mind from purchasing and so she decided that

London Hears Report 170,000 Nazi Troops Are Now In Rumania

BUDAPEST, Oct. 15.—A swift agreement between Soviet Russia and Turkey to coordinate their policies in the tense Balkan area was predicted in Budapest diplomatic circles today as incoming dispatches reported that Turkey and Greece have concluded a new military alliance.

Belief that Moscow and the Turkish government are near an accord grew as important Turko-Russian diplomatic talks progressed. One of the chief points discussed was the German military infiltration into Rumania.

In Consultation

The new Soviet envoy to Ankara, M. Vinogradov, was reported in constant consultation with Turkish officials. By next week, it was reported, a full accord will have been reached.

Meanwhile, with Anglo-Rumanian relations at the breaking point, Budapest heard that all Britons except some members of the legation staff at Bucharest had left Rumania.

The exodus of Britons coincided with the reports that German troops

LONDON, Oct. 15.—German bombers struck hard at London in a new series of daylight attacks today, following up an all-night pounding which proved the heaviest of the war.

Apparently determined to give London's teeming millions no rest after one of the worst night raids since the outbreak of the war, the German raiders made repeated attacks on the capital throughout the day.

BERLIN, Oct. 15.—A mounting death toll in western Berlin was expected today in the wake of British bombers which attacked Germany during the night and early today, it was officially announced this afternoon.

With a known death toll of one, Berlin officials feared several persons were dead, buried under the debris of a number of apartment houses in western Berlin where a large number of persons were seriously injured," an announcement said.

Declaring that one German night-flying pursuit plane had been lost, an official statement declared four explosions rocked Virchow hospital, wrecking the maternity and surgical wards.

Another announcement said units of the German air force have been flying toward England since early this morning and at present are successfully attacking London railway stations.

It was added that German bombers yesterday dropped 19 tons of explosives on England and unexploded 147 more tons last night.

The British bombers plunged through anti-aircraft barrages and groups of night-flying fighter planes to launch their raid against Berlin.

A plant foreman suffered face lacerations when attacked as he sought to drive into the mill, police said.

Mayor Elmer J. Maloy, also a SWOC leader, implored the pickets to board their special buses and trucks and leave the scene. Pickets had been brought from Monessen, Aliquippa, Donora, Aliquippa, Entra, Bradford and McKeesport.

A crowd of approximately 200 anti-SWOC Negroes forced a picket line to permit numerous employees to enter. A fist fight resulted in several pickets being beaten and forced to join the main line of pickets in front of the plant.

Duquesne police were helpless in handling the situation that drew several thousand spectators to his press conference that nobody in his wildest dreams could now regard him as either a liberal or a progressive Democrat. Johnson retaliated by charging the president with "the same old purge, the same old sham expression of affection and the same old stiletto."

Bread May Retard War Of Axis

Triple Alliance Faces Shortage

European Wheat Crop Is Reduced U. S. Department Reports Show

LOW BREAD RATIONS ARE ALREADY FIXED

By LEON W. SHLOSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Lack of bread, not bullets, may retard the war efforts of the new triple alliance—Japan, Italy and Germany—reports to the Agriculture Department indicated Monday.

Latest information received by the department disclosed that the European wheat crop will be only four-fifths the size of last year's, and that Japan faces a serious shortage of rice—the "bread" of the Orient. Further, U. S. wheat exports to Oriental ports controlled by Japan were virtually stopped by the American government last week.

Regions Affected

Regions most sharply affected by the reduced European wheat crop are the western, northern and southeastern areas. The shortage will strike most severely at Belgium, the Netherlands, Finland, France, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Hungary, Yugoslavia and Romania—most of them either directly or indirectly linked to Germany, nerve center of the axis war effort.

Low bread rations already have been fixed in Belgium, France and the Netherlands, the department reported.

Wheat production gains were reported in Soviet Russia and Turkey, but, as the department significantly puts it: "However, there have been no indications as yet of substantial exports from either Turkey or Russia."

In Japan, despite the government's strenuous efforts to make the country self-sufficient in rice, the crop will be 25 percent under the amount actually required to feed the teeming Japanese millions. Indications are that the provinces of Chosen and Taiwan, where rice production was especially developed in an effort to solve the problem, cannot supply more than half the deficit.

The rice supply situation in Japan has become so acute that the government has instituted distribution and consumption measures, the department said. Priceless meals, days and weeks are being encouraged.

Assurance of an adequate supply of rice has been a problem in Japan since the 1890's, when the country became a large deficit producer. The government's efforts to increase production have seen the output doubled, but it still falls woefully short of sufficiency.

tomorrow. Exempted from registration are men in one of the several military services or in the coast guard and geodetic survey, army or navy reserve corps, or U. P. public health service.

The following also are excused from registration:

Cadets in the U. S. military academy, U. S. naval academy, U. S. coast guard academy, men who have been accepted for admittance in these schools, cadets of the advanced course; senior division, reserve officers training corps or navy reserve officers training corps, diplomatic representatives, attaches of foreign embassies and legations, consuls general, consuls, vice consuls and consular agents of foreign countries residing in the United States.

Few In First Call

Possibility that Pennsylvania may not be called on to furnish a single draftee in the initial group summoned for a year's training was admitted by Col. Jere Leaman of the state selective service staff.

Col. Leaman explained that each state will be given credit against its quota for the number of its volunteers in the regular army, national guard, navy, marine and reserve corps. Pennsylvania's total of 68,000 volunteers was exceeded only by New York state.

Governor James urged that the American flag be displayed widely tomorrow. Earlier he had suggested that the flag be displayed at all registration places.

"This must be an orderly and dignified registration so that the 1,500,000 men registered and the people generally will be impressed with the significance of the occasion," said the governor.

"It will be necessary because of the size of the task to be undertaken by our election officials in this registration for many of those who will be registered to have time off from their occupations and places of employment."

Register Nearest Home

Men of draft age were urged to register at the place nearest their homes to simplify the clerical work necessary to transfer registration cards from non-resident districts.

Deferments from service in the military will be decided on after registration. Local draft boards will meet and organize on Thursday when they will receive from the county commissioners the lists of registrants in their territory.

Later, registrants will be asked to fill out questionnaires asking complete data on their physical, mental, social and economic status. Local boards will then classify the men and await the quota to be fixed by the federal government.

Rev. McLean, Glenmore boulevard, is pastor of the local First Methodist church.

Mrs. Kenneth McLean was born January 28, 1912 in Venango county, daughter of the late William Hovis, now Mrs. Charles A. Wilhelmi, of Erie. Since her marriage, she had lived in Mercer county and was a member of Clark's Mills Methodist church.

In addition to her husband and mother, she leaves two daughters, Lois G., aged six, Gail Nadine, six months of age, and a brother, Dennis Hovis of Hadley.

Funeral services will be conducted from the late residence Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Rev. Harold Meier of Clark's Mills, in charge. Interment will be in Perry Cemetery in that district.

"These three steps would make it possible for us to get a housing program going at full speed," Willkie asserted. "Once again, however, we are late—terribly late."

"For the American people to be subjected to so long a delay in procuring such a readily available item as housing, is inexcusable."

Extends Speech At Syracuse

Speaking last night in Syracuse Municipal Stadium, Willkie ran a scheduled 15 minute speech into a half hour with prefaces. Interpolations and additions to a prepared text on the third term issue but the audience—estimated by police at 23,000—apparently enjoyed it all; exasperating and prepared.

A complimentary reference to James A. Farley and Senator Carter Glass as genuine leaders of the Democratic party confused the audience but Willkie was on solid ground with a reference to "the New Deal party of Hopkins, Ickes, Corcoran and Wallace" and his listeners booted enthusiastically.

The candidate talked mostly in a cloud of dust as a strong wind swept over the open field.

Willkie began his speech by saying:

"The only answers I have received in my campaign have been silence, sneers and military inspection trips."

Denies Michelson's Statements

The candidate produced a clipping quoting Charles Michelson, publicity director for the Democratic national committee, as saying that he understood Willkie had purchased his five farms in Indiana at sheriff's sales.

"With bombs raining down on Europe, that is the only issue raised," Willkie said. "I didn't buy my farms at sheriff's sales, but I bought them at a price while Franklin Roosevelt was president, and let me say that I have almost gone broke maintaining them under the same administration."

In his prepared speech Willkie charged that the New Deal had taken "the last steps on the road to absolute power," and that it followed "the pattern of dictatorship."

Assumes Greatest Power

Willkie charged that the President "has taken into his own hands in eight brief years more power than any president of this nation ever had," he asserted that the President had multiplied administrative agencies, established a vast propaganda organization and was reaching out to control the entire federal judiciary.

"This is the pattern of dictatorship," he said. "The usurpation of power by manufactured emergencies; the circumvention of the legislature; the capture of the courts."

"These are the last steps on the road to absolute power. These are the steps which we are now asked to approve. These are the steps where the people of other countries have lost their freedom. This is the way democracy has been destroyed."

DIVING NAZI RAIDERS RAKE LONDON STREETS WITH MACHINE GUNS

Bombs dropped on the city and diving raiders raked the streets with machinegun bullets.

Six German planes were brought down by 2:30 p. m. (8:30 a. m. EST). One of them blew up in the air over Peham, Kent.

Five German raiders were reportedly shot down during this morning's air battles.

A third alarm sounded shortly before noon but terminated quickly without incident.

During the morning attacks at least ten bombs fell on London and several houses were demolished.

The bodies of six victims were recovered and rescuers were digging for further casualties.

During the first morning attack two bombs were dropped on the city and during the second three high explosives and an incendiary fell.

Air battles raged in the clouds above the Kent coast and the home counties near London. One German plane was seen diving from the clouds, smoke pouring from its tail and with British fighters in hot pursuit.

Throughout the morning the continuous whine of diving planes and crackle of machine gun fire kept London on edge as the air fights swooped nearer the city.

At times attacking planes dropped within a few hundred feet of the roof-top and then zoomed up to the clouds. One strong German formation retired after a fierce battle over the home counties.

Three raiders dived low over London's streets, pumping machinegun bullets into them while pedestrians scurried for shelter or fell prone on the ground.

As the morning progressed, German planes also were reported near Liverpool.

Mrs. Kenneth McLean, aged 28, wife of Kenneth McLean, Fairview township, Mercer county, and daughter-in-law of Rev. and Mrs. W. V. McLean, this city, passed away early Monday morning in Greenville hospital, after a short illness.

Red Cross Not Included

The American Red Cross chapter does not derive support from the Chest fund, it was stressed today. Yesterday's Chest story listed the chapter along with the nine agencies that are supported by the drive. The Red Cross conducts its own Roll Call.

Homes all over the city, and stores and offices, too, today began to display the familiar red Chest feathers—the sure sign that a contribution or a pledge has been made.

And the hats of men and women carried the red feathers.

headquarters that they are in a 100 percent state of readiness to carry out the first peace-time registration in the nation's history.

It was again emphasized that the 125,000 registration places throughout the country would open at 7 a. m. While all men in line at 9 p. m. will be given a chance to register even if registration places have to stay open until 2 or 3 a. m.

Approximately 1,000,000 registrars will be in the registration rooms with as many as 35 or 40 at some places in congested city areas. It was estimated that it would take every man an average of 20 minutes to register, not counting, of course, the time he might stand in line to get up to the registrar's desk.

Must Carry Certificates

Men registering will be immediately given their registration certificates. Under the law, the certificates must be carried at all times.

After registration places close tomorrow night, the cards will be sent to the county clerks, sorted and then mailed to local draft boards. The local boards will then shuffle and number them in preparation for the national lottery in Washington which will determine who is called up first.

Bread May Retard War Of Axis

Triple Alliance Faces Shortage

European Wheat Crop Is Reduced U. S. Department Reports Show

LOW BREAD RATIONS ARE ALREADY FIXED

By LEON W. SHLOSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Lack of bread, not bullets, may retard the war efforts of the new triple alliance—Japan, Italy and Germany—reports to the Agriculture Department indicated Monday.

Latest information received by the department disclosed that the European wheat crop will be only four-fifths the size of last year's, and that Japan faces a serious shortage of rice—the "bread" of the Orient. Further, U. S. wheat exports to Oriental ports controlled by Japan were virtually stopped by the American government last week.

Regions Affected

Regions most sharply affected by the reduced European wheat crop are the western, northern and southeastern areas. The shortage will strike most severely at Belgium, the Netherlands, Finland, France, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Hungary, Yugoslavia and Rumania—most of them either directly or indirectly linked to Germany, nerve center of the axis war effort.

Low bread rations already have been fixed in Belgium, France and the Netherlands, the department reported.

Wheat production gains were reported in Soviet Russia and Turkey, but, as the department significantly puts it: "However, there have been no indications as yet of substantial exports from either Turkey or Russia."

In Japan, despite the government's strenuous efforts to make the country self-sufficient in rice, the crop will be 25 percent under the amount actually required to feed the teeming Nipponese millions. Indications are that the provinces of Chosen and Taiwan, where rice production was especially developed in an effort to solve the problem, cannot supply more than half the deficit.

The rice supply situation in Japan has become so acute that the government has instituted distribution and consumption measures, the department said. Riceless meals, days and weeks are being encouraged.

Assurance of an adequate supply of rice has been a problem in Japan since the 1890's when the country became a large deficit producer. The government's efforts to increase production have seen the output doubled, but it still falls woefully short of sufficiency.

tomorrow. Exempted from registering are men in one of the several military services or in the coast guard and geodetic survey, army or navy reserve corps, or U. P. public health service.

The following also are excused from registration:

Cadets in the U. S. military academy, U. S. naval academy, U. S. coast guard academy, men who have been accepted for admittance in the schools; cadets of the advanced course; senior division, reserve officers training corps or navy reserve officers training corps; diplomatic representatives, attaches of foreign embassies and legations, consuls general, consuls vice consuls and consular agents of foreign countries residing in the United States.

Few In First Call

Possibility that Pennsylvania may not be called on to furnish a single draftee in the initial group summoned for a year's training was admitted by Col. Jere Leaman of the state selective service staff.

Col. Leaman explained that each state will be given credit against its quota for the number of its volunteers in the regular army, national guard, navy, marine and reserve corps. Pennsylvania's total of 68,000 volunteers was exceeded only by New York state.

"But what are we to say of such a long delay in housing facilities when we consider the fact that the United States contains so many skilled building tradesmen, many of whom are out of work, and when we consider the fact that United States is one of the principal producers of lumber and other building materials in the world?"

The candidate recommended three immediate steps toward solving the claimed housing problem:

Moves Recommended

First—A conference of labor leaders for the purpose of learning "the exact locations of all workers who are skilled in the building trades."

Third—Complete plans as to where the housing should be built, how it should be constructed, full details as to where men and materials would come from and delivery rates.

"These three steps would make it possible for us to get a housing program going at full speed," Willkie asserted. "Once again, however, we are late—terribly late."

"For the American people to be subjected to so long a delay in procuring such a readily available item as housing, is inexcusable."

Coming as a surprise here to many the wedding which took place at Montrose Inn, with covers marking places for thirty guests, at an attractively arranged table, "U" shape, and the bridal party seated at the head. A four tiered cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was prominently placed, and the all white theme was effectively carried out in the nuptial appointments. Clusters of white cosmos and gypsophila were placed at intervals as centerpieces.

At high noon, the vows were exchanged, in the presence of guests numbering well over a hundred, including relatives and friends of the couple before the beautifully decorated altar. The autumnal rustic motif was featured with yellow mums, against a background of green ferns, palms and foliage, providing a perfect setting. Rev. John Marvin, pastor of the church of which the bride is a member, and was ably assisted by Rev. Weavers of the Methodist church, of which the bridegroom belongs. The single ring ceremony, served at Montrose Inn, with covers marking places for thirty guests, at an attractively arranged table, "U" shape, and the bridal party seated at the head. A four tiered cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was prominently placed, and the all white theme was effectively carried out in the nuptial appointments. Clusters of white cosmos and gypsophila were placed at intervals as centerpieces.

Many lovely gifts have been showered upon her, for use in her future home.

Mr. Chamberlain is a partner in the Commonwealth Garage dealers in Dodge and Plymouth automobiles.

For the wedding, Mrs. Boak, mother of the bride, wore a black chiffon dress, and Mrs. Chamberlain, mother of the bridegroom, chose a black crepe. Their shoulder corsages, made up of sunburst mums and adding that only touch of color, were identical.

Attending from New Castle, were Mr. and Mrs. J. Audley Bonk, Mr. and Mrs. J. Francis Boak, and Jean Boak, niece of the bride. Others included, Miss Alice Courtney from Hollidaysburg, college classmate of the bride, others from Connecticut and surrounding vicinities.

A group of nuptial selections was played before services. For her wedding the bride chose a white satin gown made princess style with a Queen Anne collar and long sleeves. Her long veil was caught in long strands of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of lilies. As her only jewelry she wore a string of pearls.

Miss Martha Boak Marries DeWitt Earl Chamberlain

Coming as a surprise here to many is the wedding which took place at Montrose, Pa., in the Presbyterian church on Saturday, when Miss Martha Lucile Boak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Audley Boak, of New Castle, R. D. 4, became the bride of DeWitt Earl Chamberlain, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Chamberlain of Montrose, which marked one of the leading events of that vicinity, due to the prominence of the principals.

At high noon, the vows were exchanged, in the presence of guests numbering well over a hundred, including relatives and friends of the couple, before the beautifully decorated altar. The autumnal rustic motif was featured with yellow mums, against a background of green ferns, palms and foliage, providing a perfect setting. Rev. John Marvin, pastor of the church of which the bride is a member, pronounced the service, and was ably assisted by Rev. Weavers of the Methodist church, of which the bridegroom belongs. The single ring ceremony was used.

In marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a soldier blue velvet dress, made street length, with hat to match, and she carried a colonial bouquet of white baby mums. Miss Irene Zerber of Clearfield, Pa., a college classmate of the bride, served as maid of honor. She was attired in a wine toned velvet frock, with matching hat and her colonial bouquet was of pink baby mums.

Carlton Ferris, a business partner of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushering were J. Francis Boak of New Castle, brother of the bride, and Guy Stevens, of Meshoppen, Pa. Contributing further to the impressiveness of the occasion, appropriate music was played by Mrs. Watrous, organist of the church. She included many favorite nuptial numbers in the half hour program preceding the entrance of the bridal party, and echoes of special selections were resounded throughout the reading of the service. Lohengrins Wedding March was offered for the procession and at the close Mendelssohn's recessional was played while the wedding party retired to the church vestibule, to receive the congratulations and best wishes of their host of friends.

A wedding dinner supplemented the ceremony, served at Montrose Inn, with covers marking places for thirty guests, at an attractively arranged table, "U" shape, and the bride seated at the head. A four tiered cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was prominently placed, and the all white theme was effectively carried out in the nuptial appointments. Clusters of white cosmos and gypsophila were placed at intervals, as centerpieces.

Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain are now on a wedding trip through the Southern States. For traveling, the bride chose an aqua-toned wool with black accompaniments. After November 1, they will be at home in their new residence on Drinker avenue, Montrose.

The bride is a graduate of Princeton High School, Lawrence County, and from Pennsylvania State College. Since graduating, she has been employed by the Pennsylvania State College as the Home Economic Representative of Susquehanna County, with offices at Montrose. Since taking up residence in Montrose, the bride has made her home with the Norman Dale family, formerly of New Castle, he being Agricultural Extension Agent of State College, a position he once held in Lawrence Co. She worked with him, in the Home Economic department.

Since the news of the couple's engagement, a series of lovely parties, showers and teas was given by different groups throughout the county, further testifying to the high esteem of which the bride is held by a wide circle of friends.

Many lovely gifts have been showered upon her, for use in her future home.

Mr. Chamberlain is a partner in the Commonwealth Garage, dealers in Dodge and Plymouth automobiles.

For the wedding, Mrs. Boak, mother of the bride wore a black chiffon dress, and Mrs. Chamberlain, mother of the bridegroom, chose a black crepe. Their shoulder corsages, made up of sunburst mums and adding the only touch of color, were identical.

Attending from New Castle, were Mr. and Mrs. J. Audley Boak, Mr. and Mrs. J. Francis Boak, and Jean Boak, niece of the bride. Others included, Miss Aline Courtney from Hollidaysburg, college classmate of the bride, others from Connecticut and surrounding vicinities.

THE CHANGE IN PSYCHOLOGY

UNLESS one tops to analyze the situation he will little realize the change that has come over American psychology during the past twelve months. It was only a little more than a year ago that the war started in Poland. Most people didn't believe it really would—but it did. The general reaction in this country from Washington to Los Angeles was that the United States could by no possible manner of means be dragged into this conflict.

The press and many speakers pointed out that we had been disillusioned by the World War and recounted the numbers of billions which the countries owed us and on which they had defaulted.

But little by little the situation has changed. The collapse of Poland, the occupation of the Scandinavian and the Low Countries followed by the collapse of France and the threatened invasion of England have succeeded in spreading such a mantle of hysteria over the country that a great many people would not be surprised to hear that Hitler and Mussolini had passed Sandy Hook and would soon make a landing in Battery Park. And the situation in Japan has served further to upset us.

To realize how completely we have become "war conscious" one has only to recall the fact that the bombing of London and Berlin has served to take the public mind off the 1940 national political campaign. Addresses by Mr. Willkie and Mr. Roosevelt are cramped on the front page by the news about the war. Many people have forgotten the fact that there are still many millions of unemployed, that our national debt has exceeded the legal limit and is mounting higher, that we are threatened with higher and higher taxes and a mounting cost of living.

Yet even war consciousness cannot hide these facts forever. Some of these days we will have a rude awakening and will find that economically we are no better if not much worse off than we were before.

BICYCLING HAS ITS DAY

This is popularly supposed to be the age of the automobile, but the bicycle is more popular today than ever before in its history. No less an authority than the Federal census bureau says more people are riding the vehicle of the sprocket and handlebars than since that day just about 100 years ago when a Scottish blacksmith named Kirkpatrick MacMillan applied driving lever to an old boneshaking contraption called a velocipede.

Last year, the Census Bureau says, 1,252,029 bicycles were manufactured in the United States. Their value is placed at $22,449,000. That total was higher than the previous record which had stood from 1899, at the height of the horse and buggy days, when 1,182,691 bicycles were built.

More adults are riding bicycles for pleasure and exercise, and at a time when we place an increased premium on physical fitness, that's important.

TOM MIX: THE REAL THING

With all due respect to any of them, it may be said of Tom Mix, killed at sixty in an automobile accident, that he was the mold and pattern for all the best "horse opera" exponents of the heroic cowhand of both the silent and the talking films.

His record showed he was a Spanish-American War veteran; Philipine fighter; wounded in the Boxer outbreak in China; briefly soldier of fortune with the British Army at the siege of Ladysmith in the Boer War.

Home on the range he was successively Sheriff of Montgomery, Kan., and Washington County, Okla.; United States Marshal for the Eastern District of Oklahoma; three years a Texas Ranger; foreman of the Miller Brothers' famous 101 Ranch which took him into Wild West Show and circus life.

Seeing the faults and fakes of the crude earlier Wild West pictures, Mix turned out the authentic article. He rode the range on the silver screen; shot it out—always with a truly blackhearted scoundrel—roped his steers and rode with wild carelessness of danger. Having triumphed, he married the ranch foreman's daughter.

Small wonder that he and his black horse Tony were the idols of youngsters, including the gray-headed kind, literally around the world. Here was no drugstore cowboy, but real man. He couldn't act and said so a thousand times. But he didn't have to act. He was Tom Mix—the real thing.

TENURE OF PRESIDENTS

In recent years Americans have watched the trend in Europe towards dictatorships, and the frightful results of regimentation of populations under one-man control. There is nothing the average American fears more than any evidence that the trend is being repeated in this democracy. Our people realize that they are facing much the same conditions that have deprived so many European nations of the liberties and other virtues of government that Americans prize.

In America we are now contesting the claim that there is but one man of the quality of ability needed to lead the American people. We, for the first time in the history of the Nation, are facing the situation, that a President who has already been elected for two terms is demanding another, even though it is necessary to scrap one of the more fundamental traditions of Americans to realize his ambition.

Yet, his claim is being made when the peril of unlimited tenure in the Presidential office is more manifest than since the days of George Washington. Americans in Washington's time were not far removed from the idea that the power to rule a nation is inherited. It was feared that perpetuation of a man in the Presidency would lead away from democracy.

If three terms for a President, why not four? If four, why not five? If the tradition is cast aside by the people, what does it indicate and invite except a dictatorship? Over the long years the third term has been fundamental in the thought of Americans, as a safeguard to democracy.—Elizabeth, N. J., Daily Journal.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHEN PUPIL LAGS IN READING
Beyond the fourth or fifth grade, and even in high school and college, there are some very poor readers. The books from which they are supposed to read and learn facts are far too hard for them. For anyone to make progress at reading skill, he must practice on materials easy enough for him to read with effectiveness.

You can help the poor reader if you can induce him to read to you or someone else from books several grades lower than where he is at school. If, for example, he is in the sixth grade, he might profit most by reading from a book easy enough for the average second grade child.

Be sure his pals are not present when he reads from such "easy" materials. Help him save his face and never to feel ashamed of his reading lag. Better still, you can induce him to read to a younger child to entertain this child.

Reading Difficulties Cause Failure

If he has trouble with geography, history, science, his trouble is with reading. Children don't fail in these subjects, as a matter of fact, they fail in reading. Most of the school work above the first grade consists of reading. Preparation of a lesson is an exercise in silent reading, as a rule. Many high school and college failures are reading failures.

If your child finds his text books hard for him to read, you should read his assignments to him. Help him turn each paragraph into a sentence or two of his own as he listens while you read. . . . In like manner help him gain the contents of a whole assignment. Occasionally he may be glad to read some in the text to you. As he does so you will be impressed with the magnitude of the task he has when he tries to prepare his lessons.

So also with his assigned poems or books in English. Read them aloud to him. Anyway he will gain more from rhythm and style as he listens than from reading it silently.

Many a youth in high school, even in college, could make great improvement in his grades through such assistance. I should like to see hundreds of parents help their high school students in this way.

Read Aloud

In addition to this procedure, the poor reader in the upper grades and high school should read aloud for at least half an hour a day from easy materials. He might profitably read aloud from the Bible, since the vocabulary is easy and the style simple.

The poor reader should be induced to browse in the public library and find things that appeal to him. Magazines have possibilities. Among the magazines in rough order of difficulty I would recommend for the poor reader are: Children's Activities, Jack and Jill, Child Life, Boys' Life, World Horizons, Popular Mechanics, National Geographic, Life. For the child between eight and twelve, books with slight-hand tricks are popular.

Excellent for motivating silent reading in order to do the trick the child must dig out the directions.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

ESTIMATES*

A survey of the nations' itinerant families was urged the other day at the annual meeting in Washington of the American Humane Association. The number of such wandering family groups has been estimated at three hundred thousand. The survey may be important, especially because of the "estimates" that go around on such things.

Our "transient" youth depression casualties were "estimated" a few years ago at anywhere from a half million down to a "conservative" two hundred fifty thousand." Inquiry revealed that most of them were well along toward twenty-one years old at least. Further study by Columbia University Teachers College, early in 1935, found that the number of itinerant youth twenty years old or less was "not more than forty thousand."

That number of homeless young people is not a problem to be brushed aside, to be sure. Nevertheless, the dimensions of the problem have obviously changed when a half million "homeless children" narrow down to something like forty thousand and transient youth, in a nation of one hundred thirty millions.

Similarly, it would be no surprise within the next few years if a rigorous examination of the number of actual "transient" families" shows drastic revisions downward. Things are often less bad than they are "estimated."

If there are forty thousand itinerant youths from eighteen to twenty years of age, having no home to which to go, they should certainly be enrolled in the Army of the United States and probably a great many of them will take this opportunity for finding a home. They will not only find a home but they will find that there is something in life they can do. Their army training will stand them in very good stead and they should come out of the training camps equipped to find work that they can do in life.

ITS REAL USE
She had intently watched the soldier for some time. Then she ventured: "The chin strap, I suppose, is to keep your hat on, my man?"

Answer: Sometimes the bride's family supplies flowers for the bride and her attendants, but usually this item is taken care of by the groom.

NEWLYWEDS TO LIVE AT HOMESTEAD, PA.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gorgacz, nee Ann Madeline Chabak, plan on taking up residence at Homestead, Pa., within a couple of weeks, their marriage being an event of Saturday morning, which was celebrated in St. Michael's church of this city with a high nuptial mass. The Rev. Fr. William Pisarcik, officiated.

A throng of guests filled the church, and the wedding party stood before the beautifully decorated altar, an embankment of ferns and palms being used as a background for the chaste mums.

For her marriage, the bride was attired in a white taffeta dress, made princess style, with fingertip veil. Her flowers in colonial bouquet were of white roses and white pom poms. Miss Sue Chabak, sister of the bride was maid of honor and her only attendant. She was attired in blue taffeta, made similar with wine tone accessories. Her colonial bouquet was of roses and pom poms to harmonize. The bridegroom was served as best man by his brother, Edward. Appropriate music was contributed by the church organist, throughout the ceremony.

A wedding breakfast for twenty-four guests, was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chabak of 1812 South Jefferson street. In the evening a reception was held, which was largely attended. He is the son of Mrs. ophelia Gorgacz of 24 Elmwood street, this city.

Dispersing with a wedding trip for the present, the couple are at their parents home temporarily, later going to housekeeping in Homestead where the bridegroom is employed by the Homestead Works of the Carnegie-Illinois Company.

Friends were present from Cleveland, O., Campbell, O., Youngstown, O., and many surrounding vicinities.

Many beautiful gifts have been received by the couple, to use in their new residence.

PRIVATE R. A. KLARE MARRIES BUTLER GIRL

Kiwanis Will Hear Motor Safety Talk

Of interest locally, is the quiet but impressive wedding ceremony which took place Saturday in St. Peter's Catholic church at Butler, Pa., when Miss Elizabeth Ann Schaffner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Schaffner of 231 Fairview street, Butler, became the bride of Private Robert A. Klare, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Klare of Jerome, Pa. Rev. Fr. Collins, officiated in the presence of relatives and friends of the couple, numbering upwards of thirty. The single ring service was used.

For her marriage, the bride was smartly attired in a claret-brown ensemble, with accessories to harmonize, complimented with an orchid shoulder corsage. She had as her only attendant, her sister, Virginia, who also was attired in an early fall creation.

Stanley J. Phillips of Jerome, served as best man.

Supplementing the ceremony, a wedding breakfast and reception took place at the bride's home. The nuptial motif was evident in the daily appointments used throughout, and bouquets of flowers decorated the rooms, lending a colorful setting for the occasion.

The bride is secretary to the bursar of Slippery Rock State Teachers College in the Administration Building. Mr. Klare is a graduate of Duke University of Durham, North Carolina, and of California State Teachers' College and taught for two years in Somerset County. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. Klare is now a private in the Pennsylvania State Motor Police, stationed in New Castle at the local barracks on North Jefferson street.

After a wedding trip of about ten days to Washington, D. C., New Jersey and other places of interest, the couple will take up residence at 231 Maple street, Slippery Rock.

Flying Cameraman Praises New Castle For Air Progress

"The Flying Cameraman," a title well earned by J. C. "Slim" Gregory, known the world over in his special field of work, who chose to do a bit of reminiscing with New Castle friends here for a few days; his first visit here in a period of about eight years. "Slim" as the flying cameraman is known, has a warm spot in his heart for New Castle, and especially for the people in it, whom seemingly give him that "at home" hospitable feeling the minute he sets foot on ground.

Gregory is a member of the Royal Air Force, and his past experiences, as related to the news reporter, are interesting and thrilling enough for a series of books. He has been "air minded" since a lad, it was reverend, and has participated in dare-devil auto stunting, walked the wings of planes many thousands of feet in the air, but his heart is really in the flying photography phase of the R. A. F.

Beginning his present career, Gregory and a Mr. Mayfield started out a number of years ago with a home made camera, to go on tour with a flying circus, having Roscoe Turner, as their backer and promoter. This was the start, and today pictures are seen in Sunday sheets, geography books, and other magazines, bearing the name "by J. C. Gregory." In 1939, Gregory was hired by the "Flying Hutchinson Family" and they toured forty-four countries. Many of the pictures taken during this tour, will be used in geographic books, in 1945, it was learned. His pictures are known as among the most perfect, and are often secured for publications in National Geographic magazine, the

FACTS AND FALSITIES ABOUT SALT

There is a common superstition to the effect that salt is detrimental to health and should be kept to a minimum in the diet because it causes high blood pressure. It is a belief, I think, that is without proper foundation. Certainly, in my own long practice, I have found no reason to believe that salt by itself does affect the blood pressure adversely.

Salt is a very necessary body requirement. All our blood and tissues contain it normally, in a more or less fixed percentage. Salt deficiency in the body can be a serious matter.

It may be that as a race we eat too much salt. We do consume a great deal more of it than most peoples. But when it comes to deciding whether too much salt is being eaten, a great deal depends on the individual. Some have more capacity for it and need for it than others.

The body has its own natural ways of eliminating salt. Some is removed through perspiration, and some through the kidneys. Have you ever noticed that after you have eaten salty foods that you drink more water? Well, this is nature's way of helping the kidneys get rid of the extra salt that you have taken in.

During summer months we need more salt than in cold weather because we do so much perspiring. Sometimes people sweat so much and lose so much salt that they actually suffer from a salt deficiency and it is believed that heat exhaustion has some connection with this.

It has become a practice in some industries to supply salt to the workers in the form of tablets which takes in cases that do not come within the purview of the other courts mentioned.

The three county commissioners are planning on a long day Wednesday, along with other court house attaches. The registry cards upon which the young men between 21 and 36 are to be registered must be returned to the court house immediately after the registration closes.

By ten o'clock it is thought they will be rolling in and by midnight most of them should be in. They will be bundled immediately and prepared for shipment to the state office in Harrisburg.

It is true that too much salt can cause trouble for some individuals. To a person with weak kidneys, the elimination of extra salt can bring discomfort and the condition may necessitate a salt-free diet. Yet another person might eat large quantities of salt without suffering any more serious consequence than a ringing throat.

Do not think it is a very bad habit when persons automatically put salt on food before tasting it. Some seem to "put it on" everything—literally—from soup to nuts. They seem to have no taste at all, except for salt.

Jewish Festival Will Be Observed

Temple Israel To Have Services In Observance Of Jewish Thanksgiving Thursday

Sukos, Feast of Tabernacles, the Jewish Thanksgiving festival, opens this year Wednesday evening, October 16. Originally celebrated in Palestine as a harvest festival, its original meaning has been merged into a festival of thanksgiving for the Torah, or law.

Temple Israel will hold services Thursday morning, October 17, at 10:30 o'clock. The children will bring fruits as a thank offering, after which they are distributed among less fortunate children.

Observed by Jews of Palestine and reform Jews for eight days of which the first and last are full holidays, Sukos is celebrated by orthodox and conservative Jews for nine days of which the first and last two days are full holidays. Sukos is the longest and one of the most joyous holidays in the Jewish calendar.

The tabernacles or booths in which all Jews were bidden to dwell during the holiday, symbolize the equality of all men since for the duration of the holiday rich and poor alike dwell in them. They are to recall the frail structures inhabited by the Jews when they wandered in the wilderness. The last day of Sukos is called Simchat Torah, rejoicing in the law. On this day the cycle of reading from the Bible is completed and the new cycle is started with the reading in the synagogue of the first chapter of Genesis. Symbols peculiar to Sukos celebration include the palm branch, the willow, the myrtle, and the citron, to which many meanings have been attributed.

FACTS AND FALSITIES ABOUT SALT

There is a common superstition to the effect that salt is detrimental to health and should be kept to a minimum in the diet because it causes high blood pressure. It is a belief, I think, that without proper foundation. Certainly, in my own long practice, I have found no reason to believe that salt by itself does affect the blood pressure adversely.

Salt is a very necessary body requirement. All our blood and tissues contain it normally, in a more or less fixed percentage. Salt deficiency in the body can be a serious matter.

It may be that as a race we eat too much salt. We do consume a great deal more of it than most peoples. But when it comes to deciding whether too much salt is being eaten, a great deal depends on the individual. Some have more capacity for it and need for it than others.

The body has its own natural ways of eliminating salt. Some is removed through perspiration, and some through the kidneys. Have you ever noticed that after you have eaten salty foods that you drink more water? Well, this is nature's way of helping the kidneys get rid of the extra salt that you have taken in.

During summer months we need more salt than in cold weather because we do so much perspiring. Sometimes people sweat so much and lose so much salt that they actually suffer from a salt deficiency, and it is believed that heat exhaustion has some connection with this. It has become a practice in some industrial works to supply salt to the workers in the form of tablets when their work causes them to perspire so much that they lose a good deal of salt.

It is true that too much salt can cause trouble for some individuals. To a person with weak kidneys, the elimination of extra salt can bring discomfort, and the condition may necessitate a salt-free diet. Yet another person might eat large quantities of salt without suffering any more serious consequence than a raging thirst.

I do think it is a very bad habit when persons automatically put salt on food before tasting it. Some seem to "put it on" everything—literally—from soup to nuts. They seem to have no taste at all, except for salt.

Jewish Festival Will Be Observed

Temple Israel To Have Services In Observance Of Jewish Thanksgiving Thursday

Sukos, Feast of Tabernacles, the Jewish Thanksgiving festival, opens this year Wednesday evening, October 16. Originally celebrated in Palestine as a harvest festival, its original meaning has been merged into a festival of thanksgiving for the Torah, or law.

Temple Israel will hold services Thursday morning, October 17, at 10:30 o'clock. The children will bring fruits as a thank offering, after which they are distributed among less fortunate children.

Observed by Jews of Palestine and reform Jews for eight days of which the first and last are full holidays, Sukos is celebrated by orthodox and conservative Jews for nine days of which the first and last two days are full holidays. Sukos is the longest and one of the most joyous holidays in the Jewish calendar.

The tabernacles or booths in which all Jews were bidden to dwell during the holiday, symbolize the equality of all men, since for the duration of the holiday rich and poor alike dwell in them. They are intended to recall the frail structures inhabited by the Jews when they wandered in the wilderness. The last day of Sukos is called Simchas Torah, rejoicing in the law. On this day the cycle of reading from the Bible is completed and the new cycle is started with the reading in the synagogue of the first chapter of Genesis. Symbols peculiar to Sukos celebration include the palm branch, the willow, the myrtle, and the citron, to which many meanings have been attributed.

Bases In Newfoundland And In Bermuda Will Soon Be Under Way

BRITISH FACILITIES AVAILABLE FOR SHIPS

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM
International News Service Staff Correspondent

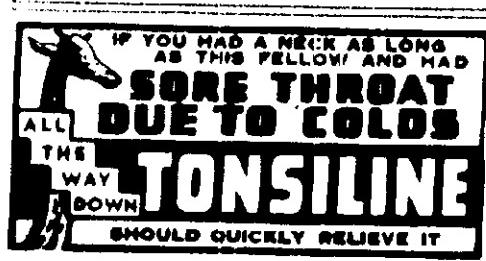

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Construction of seaplane and submarine bases at Newfoundland and Bermuda will be started shortly by the navy as the initial step in development of American fortifications on eight British western hemisphere possessions, high naval officials revealed today.

Tentative plans for construction activities at Newfoundland and Bermuda have been completed and a report detailing the proposed work has been submitted to President Roosevelt for approval, it was revealed.

A board of army and navy experts already has inspected these Newfoundland and Bermuda areas. This group is now surveying the other prospective bases, which are located in the Caribbean.

No Details Given

Although no details concerning the scope of the proposed American facilities are available, it is indicated that the United States will be given the right to use existing British naval facilities in Bermuda.

Available facilities in Bermuda include a naval dry dock, naval repair shops, fuel storage and commercial ship repair works. It will be possible also for the United States to avail itself of Canadian naval facilities at Halifax, Nova Scotia. While international law recognizes the right of the United States to utilize British naval facilities, England is barred by the neutrality act from making use of American ship bases.

Because of the British naval facilities already available at Bermuda, it appears likely that the United States will limit its construction in this area to development of a submarine and aviation base.

Both the army and navy expect to construct temporary barracks for American personnel. The navy will build storage plant for oil and a fortified anchorage for submarines and fleet tenders.

More extensive construction may be undertaken in Newfoundland, since virtually no existing naval facilities are available there.

Recent testimony before Congress by Rear Admiral Ben Moreell, chief of the bureau of ships and docks, indicated that funds for construction of the new bases will be allocated by President Roosevelt from emergency funds on hand.

TIME CHANGED

Class No. 5 of the Chewton Christian Sunday school will hold their regular monthly business meeting in the basement of the church on Friday evening, October 19.

DAVIS-GUY MEETING

Numbering among the lovely October weddings was that of Miss Ruth Davis, daughter of J. I. Davis, of Harrisville, who became the bride of Lewis B. Guy, son of Charles B. Guy of Chewton, on Friday evening at 5:30, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Coulter T. Hulett of Ellwood City. The vows were exchanged before an improvised altar of ferns, palms, and fall flowers with the Rev. C. P. Durbin, pastor of the Chewton Christian church, officiating with the single ring service. To the familiar strains of Loehengrin's wedding march, the bride, becomingly attired in white, velvet, street length, dress and wearing a corsage of yellow roses, came down the stairs. Nuptial music was softly played throughout the service. As maid of honor, Miss Madeline Davis, sister of the bride, wore a smart teal blue crepe drag and her corsage was of pink roses. Thomas Hulett of Chewton served as best man. After the congratulatory period, a wedding dinner was served to twenty guests by Mrs. Hulett, aided by Miss Sydney Wesley. Mr. and Mrs. Guy departed on a wedding trip to include the new "dream" highway and the Skyline Drive in Virginia. They are both graduates of the Ellwood City High school. The bride has been employed by Nicholl's Bakery, while the bridegroom owns and operates a service station at Wampum.

Jimmy Hines Is Now In Prison Serving Time

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—James J. "Jimmy" Hines, one time Tammany district leader, surrendered Monday and was taken to Sing Sing prison to serve a four to eight year sentence as the political fixer for the Dutch Schultz mob.

Hines asked no favors when he surrendered himself at general sessions court but the sheriff's office took him to prison in a limousine, unshackled, forcing him to ride "up the river" in handcuffs on a train with other convicted prisoners.

Commitment of Hines took only a few minutes. The 63-year-old politician bade good-bye to his three sons outside the court building. He then sat in court, surrounded by reporters, until his name was called. Judge Jacob Gould Schurman ordered the commitment and Hines was led away without any comment except his one statement to reporters before commitment was ordered: "I haven't asked for anything yet, and I'm not starting now."

Model Arabella Hartley had her ex-husband arrested on a charge of trying to steal her automobile after he drove her to New York's La Guardia Field so she could fly to Washington, D. By this time the court was confused too, refused her plea and demanded she appear to clear up the matter.

Motor Truckers Meet On Monday

I. C. C. Man Is Heard; Discuss Changes In Regulation Of Motor Transport Co.

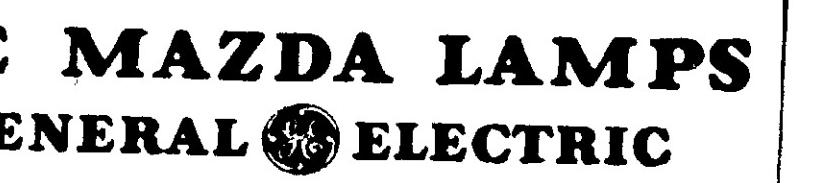

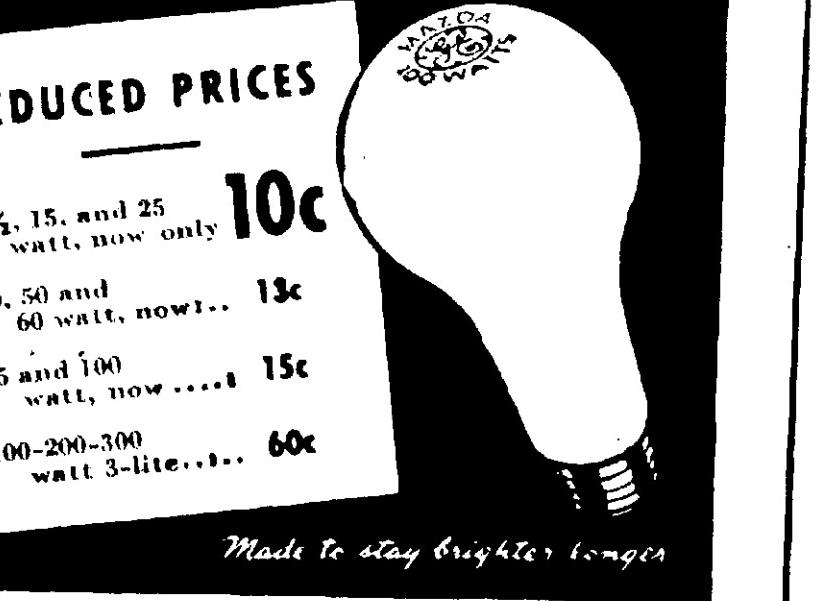

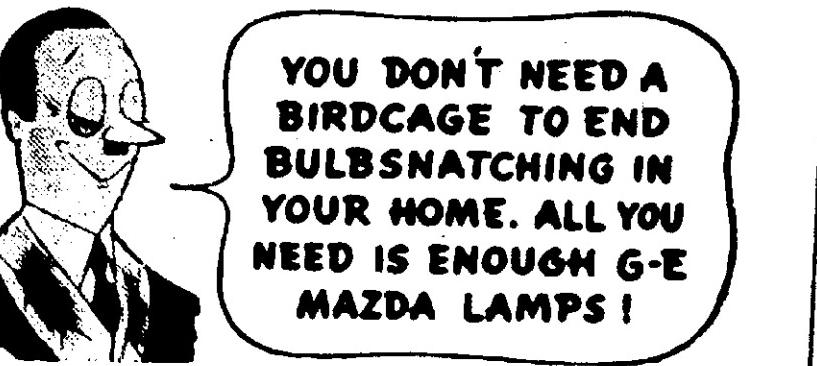

Changes in regulations of motor transport companies, minor for the most part, were discussed Monday night in The Castleton hotel when E. J. Schwab of the Inter State Commerce Commission addressed the Lawrence County chapter of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association.

The important regulation on which Mr. Schwab pointed out to the truckers was that concerning the collection of bills. Under the rules of the I. C. C., the truck company must bill its customer within seven days of the movement of the freight and the customer must pay the bill within seven days of the receipt of it.

DAVIS-GUY MEETING

Numbering among the lovely October weddings was that of Miss Ruth Davis, daughter of J. I. Davis, of Harrisville, who became the bride of Lewis B. Guy, son of Charles B. Guy of Chewton, on Friday evening at 5:30, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Coulter T. Hulett of Ellwood City. The vows were exchanged before an improvised altar of ferns, palms, and fall flowers with the Rev. C. P. Durbin, pastor of the Chewton Christian church, officiating with the single ring service. To the familiar strains of Loehengrin's wedding march, the bride, becomingly attired in a wine velvet, street length, dress and wearing a corsage of yellow roses, came down the stairs. Nuptial music was softly played throughout the service. As maid of honor, Miss Marian Davis, sister of the bride, wore a smart teal blue crepe dress and her corsage was of pink roses. Thomas Houk of Chewton served as best man. After the congratulatory period, a wedding dinner was served to twenty guests by Mrs. Hulett, aided by Mrs. Sydney Wasley. Mr. and Mrs. Guy departed on a wedding trip to include the new "dream" highway and the Skyline Drive in Virginia. They are both graduates of the Ellwood City High school. The bride has been employed by Nicholl's Bakery, while the bridegroom owns and operates a service station at Wampum.

Jimmy Hines Is Now In Prison Serving Time

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—James J. "Jimmy" Hines, one-time Tammany district leader, surrendered Monday and was taken to Sing Sing prison to serve a four to eight year sentence as the political fixer for the old Dutch Schultz mob.

Hines asked no favors when he surrendered himself at general sessions court but the sheriff's office took him to prison in a limousine, unshackled, forcing him to ride "up the river" in handcuffs on a train with other convicted prisoners.

Commitment of Hines took only a few minutes. The 63-year old politician bade good-by to his three sons outside the court building. He then sat in court, surrounded by reporters, until his name was called.

Judge Jacob Gould Schurman ordered the commitment and Hines was led away without any comment except this one statement to reporters before commitment was ordered: "I haven't asked for anything yet, and I'm not starting now."

Motor Truckers Meet On Monday

I. C. C. Man Is Heard; Discuss Changes In Regulation Of Motor Transport Cos.

Changes in regulations of motor transport companies, minor for the most part, were discussed Monday night in The Castleton hotel when E. J. Schwab of the Inter State Commerce Commission addressed the Lawrence County chapter of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association.

One important regulation on which Mr. Schwab pointed out to the truckers was that concerning the collection of bills. Under the rules of the I. C. C., the truck company must bill its customer within seven days of the movement of the freight and the customer must pay the bill within seven days of the receipt of it.

Following his address a forum was held and many questions asked of the government man. His address followed a dinner of the truckers at which about 80 attended.

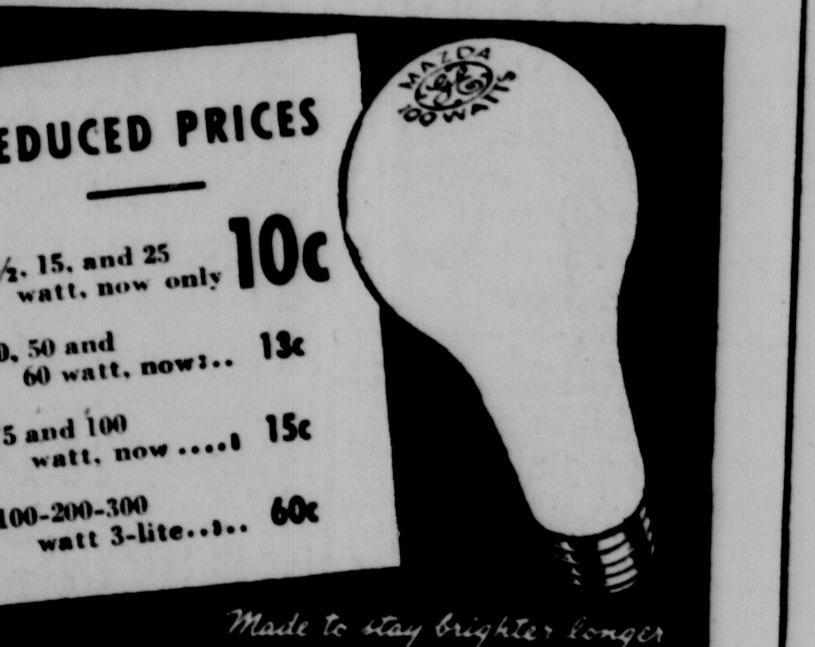

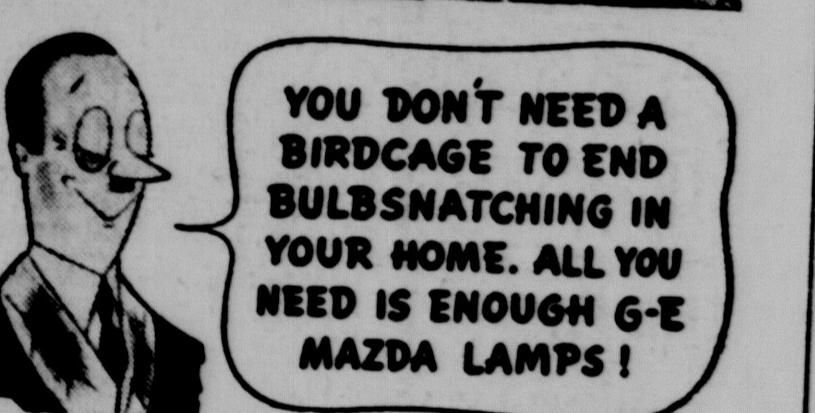

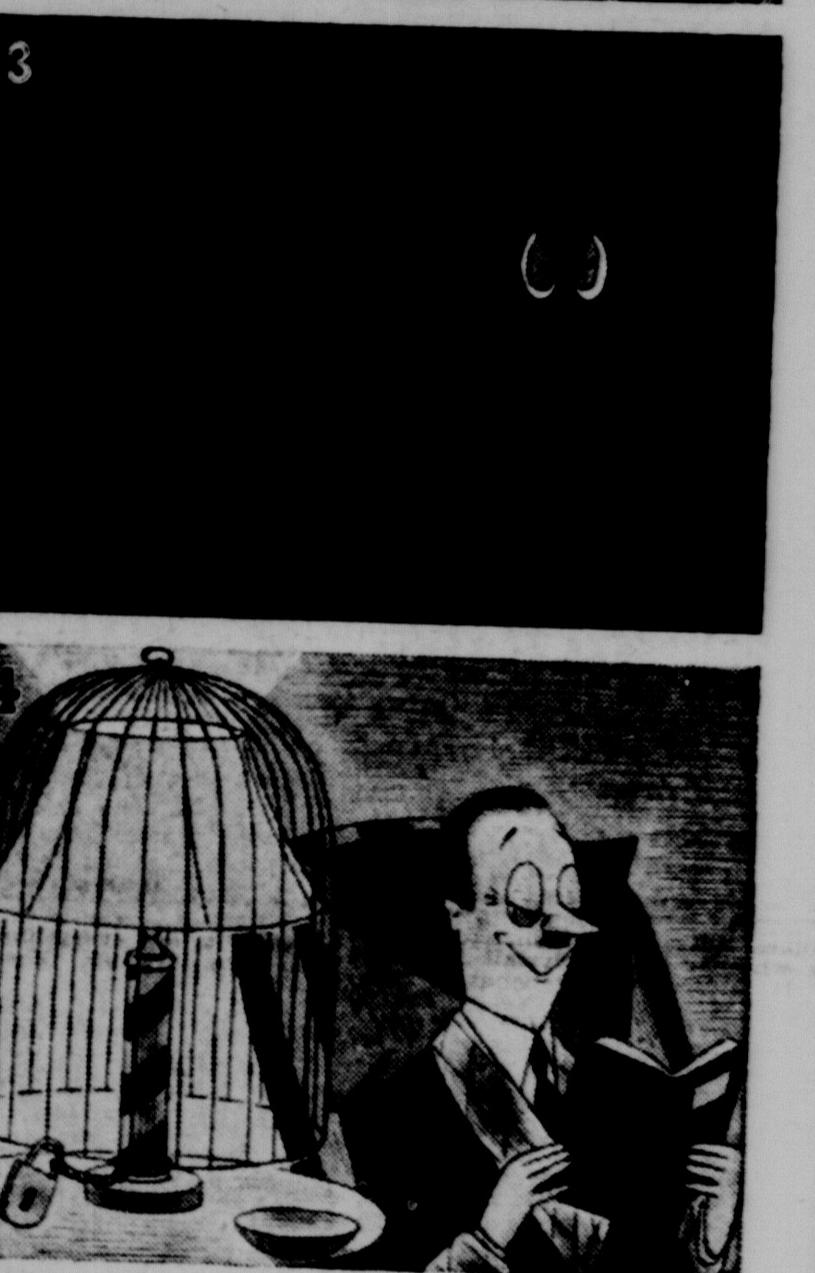

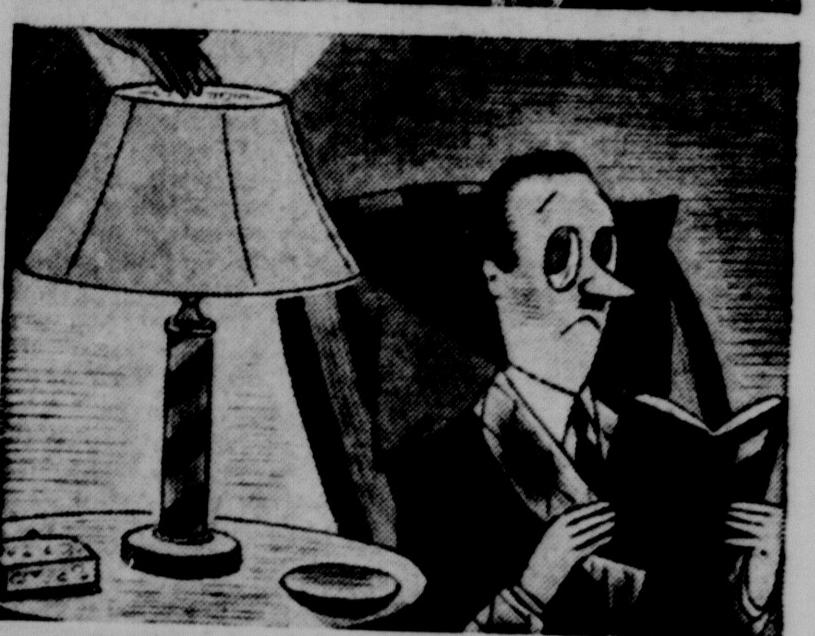

Paul W. Keeley, president of the local chapter, presided and introduced a number of guests. Representatives of the International Truck company were special guests Monday night and they provided the entertainment feature, several reels of pictures. One of these was a travel picture taken in the Belgian Congo and others were in a lighter vein.

Willkie Plans Four More Busy Weeks Of Steady Campaigning

(International News Service)
ABROAD WILLKIE SPECIAL
Oct. 15.—Four more weeks of strenuous campaigning centered chiefly in the pivotal states of New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio, were marked out today for Wendell L. Willkie in his latest revised itinerary.

The busy schedule, calling for appearances in 56 cities, also includes campaigning in Indiana, Missouri, Minnesota, Kentucky and Wisconsin. The new itinerary carries Willkie up to Oct. 28 and leaves the final week before election open for the present. This is apparently for the purpose of permitting last-minute, strategic salutes into doubtful territory.

The schedule follows:

Oct. 15—Rochester, Batavia and Buffalo, N. Y.
Oct. 16—Mansfield, Marion Springfield, Dayton, Hamilton and Cincinnati, Ohio.

New Castle High Team To Resume Training Today For Class AA Battle

New Castle's big "Fid Hurricane" football team went back to hard training this afternoon in preparation for the battle this coming Friday night at Washington High's new stadium.

Yesterday afternoon the regulars were excused after a light workout of running through plays and doing a little road work to keep their muscles limbered up.

According to the scouts who have watched the "Little Presidents" this year, New Castle will face a tough assignment in meeting Washington's powerful eleven this year. Last year New Castle won here 33 to 0, but no score of this dimension is looked for this season.

Will Seek Revenge

Washington High will be after revenge Friday. Also New Castle won the last time they invaded Washington in 1938 by a score of 7 to 6.

The New Castle team with the exception of Fredy McKee and Roberts is in good shape for the Washington game. Adams is recovering from his split tongue and Morgan will no doubt be ready to start at center this week.

Robert Mills, ticket manager stated today that tickets for the Washington-New Castle game at Washington Friday night can be obtained at the Sporting Goods Store, 105 North Mercer street, starting this afternoon. The tickets are 75 and 50 cents, for the reserved section. Only 200 or 300 will be available for the local fans. Student tickets are 25 cents, and are on sale at the Senior High school.

East 'Big Three' Are Losing Heart

Yale, Harvard And Princeton Ready To Quit Major League Competition

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The decline of football in the "Big Three"—Yale, Harvard and Princeton—has reached the point where this select trio, once embodying all that is great in football, now faces the most disastrous year in recent history. Yale is officially on record today as foreseeing the trend, but reiterated its determination to maintain its white gridiron policy.

Athletic Director Ogden Miller repeated late yesterday that Yale will not deviate from its de-emphasized program despite the unprecedented 50 to 7 defeat suffered against Pennsylvania last Saturday, and the reaction here was that the Big Three may get out of the big time entirely in the near future. Princeton and Harvard will go along on much the same basis as the Yales, according to past performances.

HAVE WEAK TEAMS?

All this may indicate a significant trend as athletic director Miller seems to think, for there has been more de-emphasizing of late than at any time in the past, except when infrequently some school let football get completely out of control. Pittsburgh is following the de-emphasis trend and Chicago, after a humiliating 1939 season, dropped football.

Miller—speaking strictly for Yale, of course—insisted in a prepared statement that he was not attempting to alibi Yale's swamping against Penn, which followed a 19 to 14 defeat suffered against Virginia the week before to start the Wolves to hollering. Yale's attitude is to let them holler.

Princeton and Harvard may feel the same way about it, although no statement has been read so far to reiterate their stand for football purity in the face of Princeton's 7 to 6 win over weak Vanderbilt, 12 to 6 loss to Navy and Harvard's 13 to 0 win over weak Amherst and 26 to 0 defeat against Michigan.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Roy Smith, Huron avenue, suggested today that turtle-hunters may be able to increase turtle life in Lawrence county. He explained the method Monday. Smith reported that several months ago he cleaned a turtle. He found 28 eggs which he buried in six inches of dirt in his yard. Several days ago he dug into the "turtle bed." He found 14 eggs about ready to hatch, so he reported. Smith opened the shell. None of them survived. However, he believes that when turtles are killed their eggs may be buried and at the proper time the turtles will hatch.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Sports scramble—Hardly a day passes by that someone doesn't ask, "Why is Massillon High so good?"

Thanks to Fritz Howell, a talented Ohio typewriter jockey, we are borrowing a few excerpts from Howell's interview with Paul Brown, coach of the vaunted Tigers. In Brown's own words:

"Perfection—perfection in every detail, down to the last step or movement every boy makes. Our system is based on speed and timing, and nearly every move made by the team is controlled by counting. The attack is based on charging and blocking. If we can outcharge the other line, we'll win. If we can't, we'll probably take a shellacking."

Clark Shaughnessy has everybody dizzy in the Far West. Taking over Stanford's coaching berth, Shaughnessy has injected a new style of trickery in ball handling that even the commentators haven't unravelled as yet. Should his Indians finish undefeated and untied, which hardly seems possible, the Shaughnessy would emerge as the coach of the year with the remainder of the system is Brown's.

Thus, you have the inside dope on the greatest high school eleven in the land. Brown, a native of Massillon and who played football and basketball at Washington High and Miami University, annually supplies leading colleges with at least two or three standout performers. Coach Brown's salary is $4,200, according to Howell.

Although Ossie Vitt hasn't received the official pink slip, he is reportedly scouring the countryside for a managerial post in the minors.

Latest reports state that Rajah Hornsby isn't in the line battler for the Indians' pilot job. Hank Greenberg and Rudy York, Detroit clowns, batted in one-third as many runs as the entire Cleveland team during the past season.

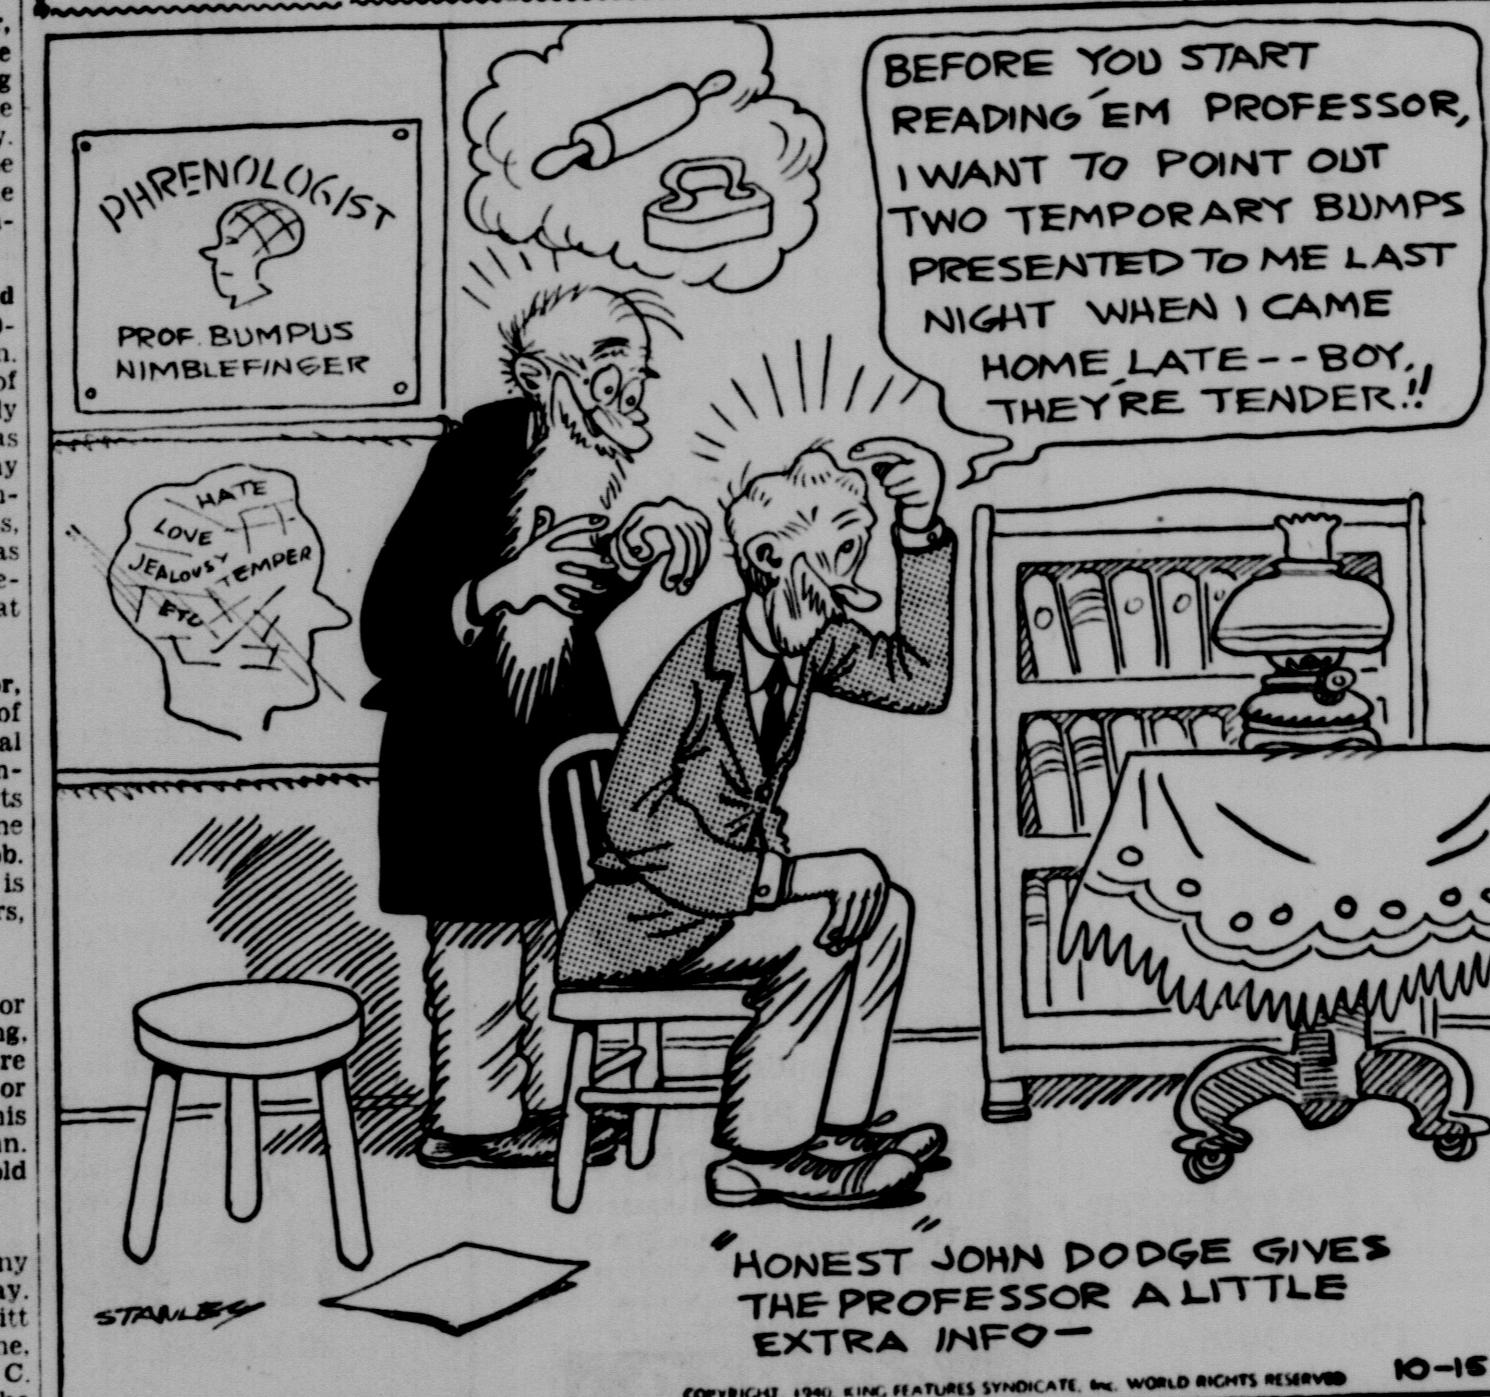

DALLAS—There are three 200-pound backs on the Southern Methodist freshman football team.

CITY HALL HOLIDAY

October 16 has been declared a holiday for city hall employees because it is Registration Day for male persons 21 years of age and who have not yet reached their thirty-sixth birthday. The motion decreeing the holiday for city hall workers was presented by Finance Director James L. Flink during council meeting Monday.

Not so long ago city council went on record as prescribing the return of city jobs to any city worker summoned to military service, upon his return to civilian life.

STOCKSStock Market Little Changed*Colorless Trend To Early Transactions In New York Market TodayBy LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The stock market duplicated the mixed and colorless trend of yesterday's late dealings. Strength in a few special groups, including amusement shares, again featured.

Price changes with few exceptions were extremely small, and trading showed no appreciable change from the sluggish pace of recent sessions. First-hour sales totaled 110,000 shares vs. 120,000 shares in the same period yesterday.

The rise in moving-picture shares was led by Paramount issues, with the common up a half-point and the second preferred slightly more. Loew's also was improved in moderately active dealings.

Dow Chemical ran up more than a point in an otherwise soft chemical group. Air Reduction, Union Carbide and Allied Chemical all were behind minus signs. Most utilities were a shade higher.

Steel generally were backward, but Crucible issues continued their upward swing with the preferred gaining better than a point. U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and National gave up fractions.

Fractional declines also were shown by General Motors, American Smelting, Anaconda, United Aircraft, Eastman Kodak, most rails, fall equipments, farm implements and tobacco. Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, General Electric, Standard Oil of N. J. and U. S. Rubber held around last night's closing levels.

The general market eased around midday, carrying most leaders below minus signs.
